January, 1985

This directory has been developed as a reference tool which will indicate the location and service providers of Basic Adult Education classes, tutoring in English as a Second Language, preparation for the GED or High School Equivalence exam and a variety of special adult learning programs.

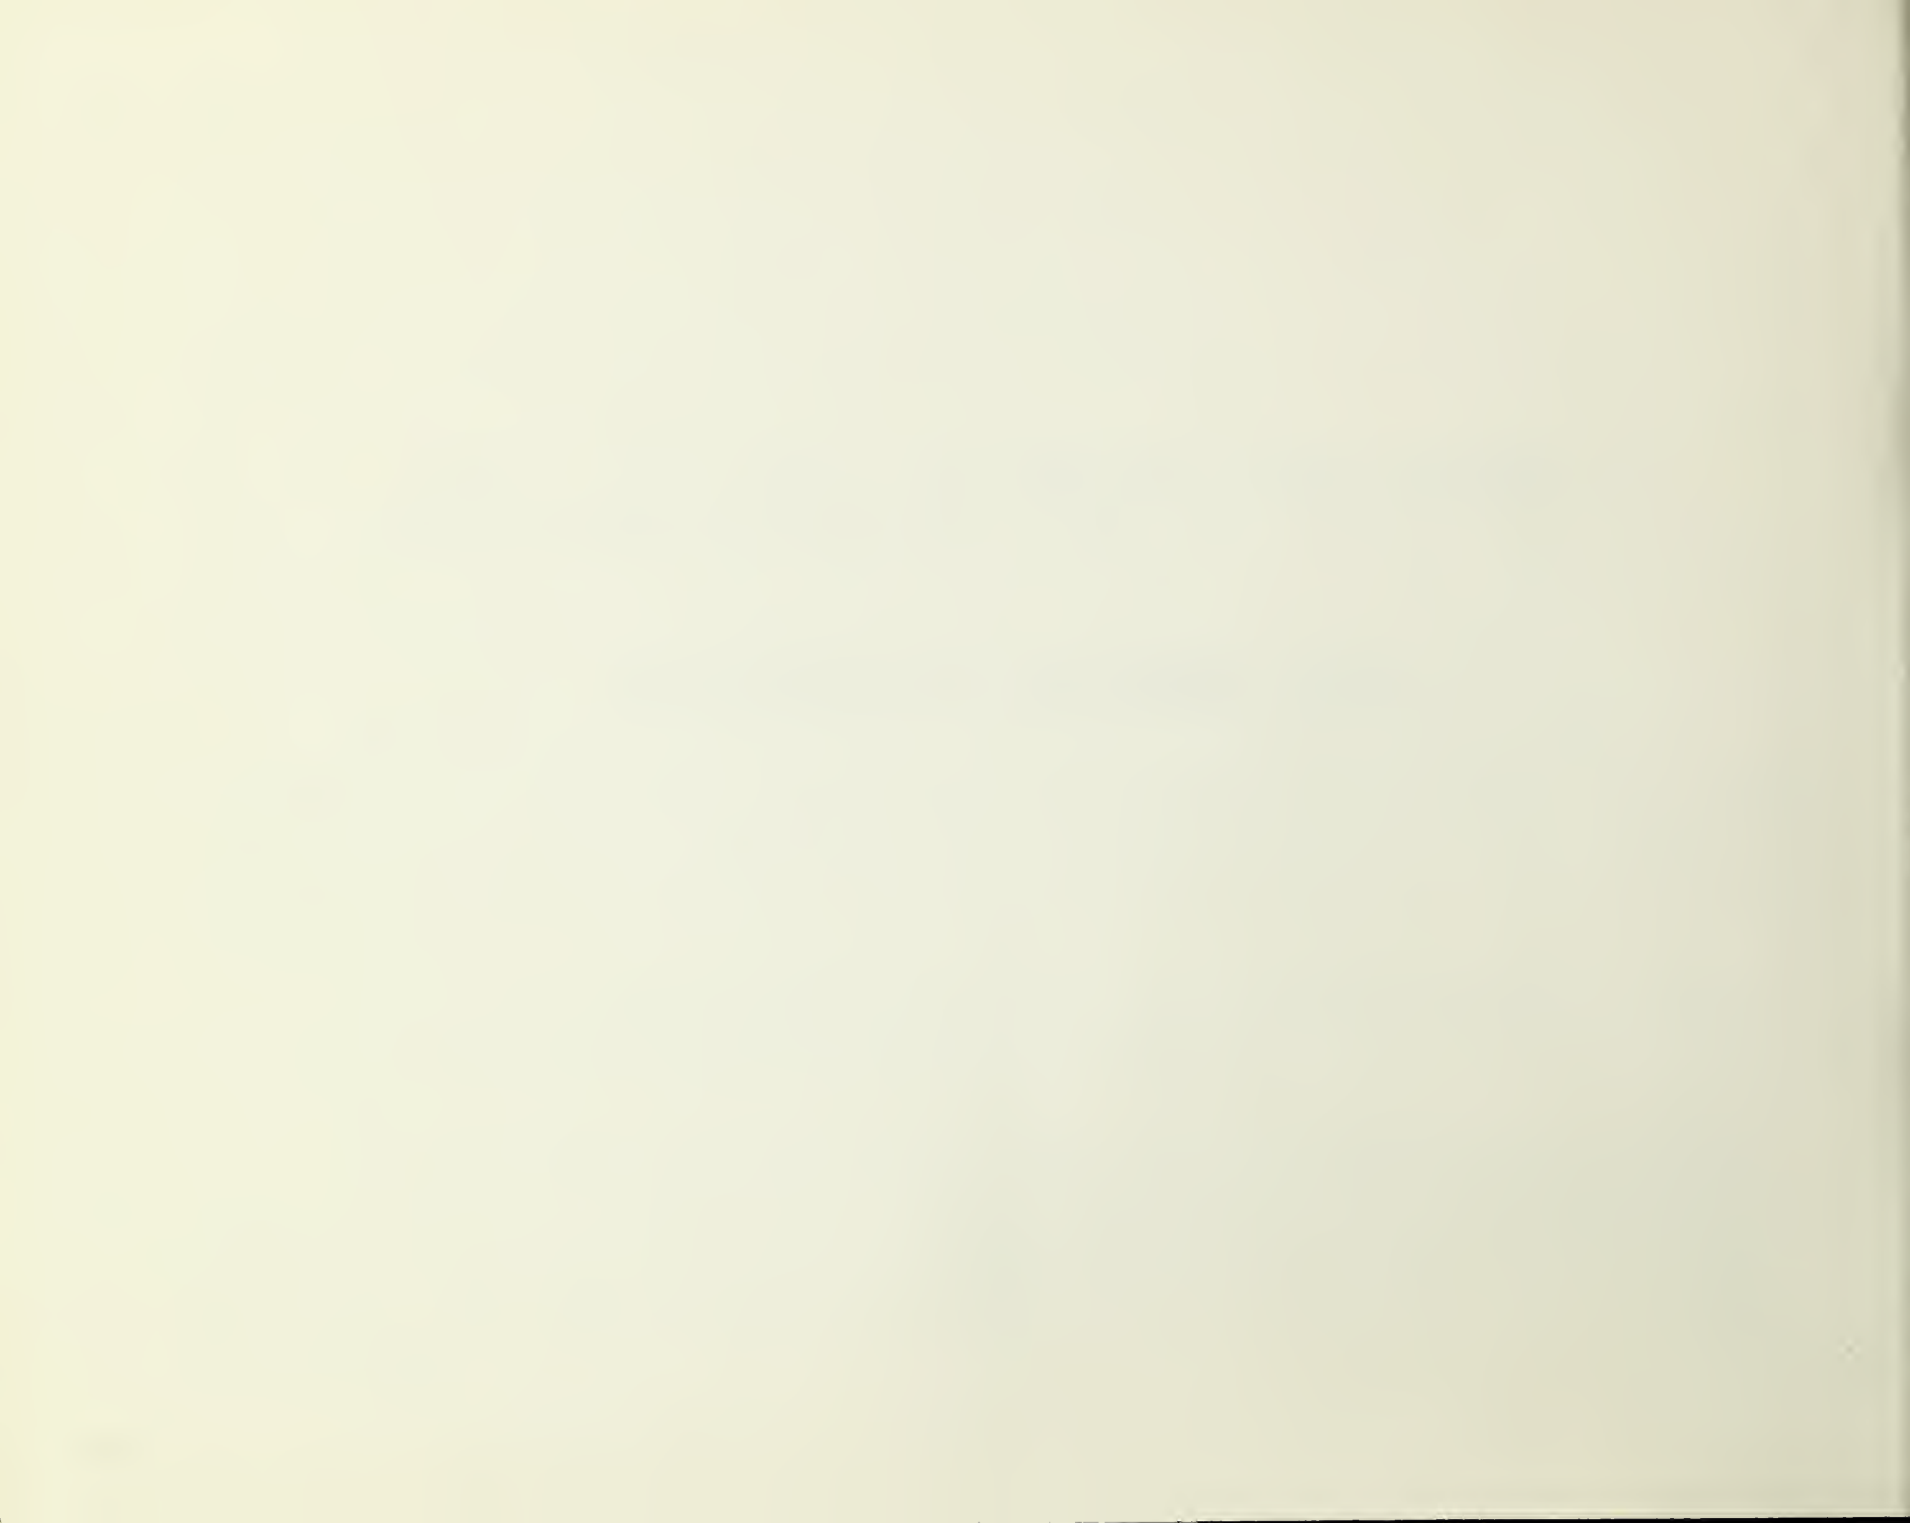

Section one provides information on the location by city or town where a variety of special programs are offered, ABE (Adult Basic Education includes basic literacy and may also offer basic math and survival skills); ESL (English as a Second Language is for limited speakers of English); GED (General Educational Development) allows one to earn a certificate which is the equivalent of a high school diploma; ALT. ED or Alternate Education programs are for students up to the age of 21 who have difficulty learning in the traditional environment; EXT.DIP (External Diploma or Adult Diploma programs may include "life experience" as part of the credit towards earning a recognized high school diploma.

Section two lists the various providers, coordinators or adult education and directors of volunteer and ESL training programs. These services are being offered in adult learning centers, libraries, prisons, businesses, drug and alcohol rehabilitation centers, housing projects, churches and agencies serving the disabled.

The final part of the directory lists all the GED test sites alphabetically by town, GED preparation classes, ABE, ESL and Alternate and Adult Diploma programs.

Any person requesting information should be urged to get in touch with the contact indicated at each learning site. The trained staff people at any given location are best able to counsel and guide the potential reader, student or volunteer in the selection of the most appropriate program for his/her individual needs.
